TenCate Advanced Armor appoints Mark Bajko

TenCate Advanced Armor in Newark (Ohio, USA) has appointed Mark Bajko as Vice President and General Manager for personal protection products. Mr Bajko will be based out of the Newark facility of TenCate Advanced Armor USA, reporting to President Mark Edwards. Previously Bajko has held senior management positions with BAE Systems, Safariland, and most recently with Point Blank Enterprises. In addition to his civilian experience, Bajko is a Lieutenant Colonel (LTC) in U.S. Army with over thirty-two years of service.

Mark Edwards, President of TenCate Advanced Armor USA states, "We are very excited to add Mark Bajko to our leadership team. Mark's personal protection product and market development expertise, combined with our existing armor materials capabilities and system approach, will enable us to provide best value advanced armor systems for the military, law enforcement, corrections, and security market segments."
