

TenCate Mirafi® RS580i in Drainage Channels

Riprap and articulated concrete block channel armor

- High interface friction to resist armor/riprap sliding
- Highly permeable to release pore water pressure build up during rapid changes in channel water levels.
- Very durable – to resist installation damage from large riprap placement
- Small AOS to hold back finer grained soils and resist piping of soils under the armor/riprap during high water flow rates

